Areas of positive Experience	Areas for improvement
I have been able to support a trainee experiencing family problems	I am not fully conversant with the hospital component of training programme requirements for GPs.

Areas of positive Experience	Areas for improvement
Dr X ensured that I met my learning objectives and provided useful constructive feedback. She encouraged me to reflect on my clinical practice and identify my strengths.	Sometimes her instructions are too vague for someone at my level.
Gives clear and constructive feedback which is helpful and challenging. Shows genuine interest in my professional development.	Dr X is interested in my career development, however, it would be useful if she has more knowledge of GP training pathways.
Gives time and thought to the process, also planned supervision sessions to address my specific learning requirements. Feedback clear, constructive and very helpful.	More opportunity for discussion of challenging issues in clinical care would be valuable.
Gives time and thought to the process, also planned supervision sessions to address my specific learning requirements. Feedback was clear, constructive and very helpful.

Understands and relays vital information in a timely manner.

Personal attributes

Educational Supervisor Comments

Areas of positive Experience

Time spent with trainees discussing their portfolios.

Areas for improvement

At times clinical and management commitments conflict with planned supervision meetings which can be frustrating both for myself and trainees.

Areas of positive Experience

Approachable and supportive.

Consistently gave objective, constructive criticism and feedback on my performance.

Very supportive when I needed to alter meeting times due to unexpected family difficulties.

Dr X always tried to be available to provide both clinical and training advice, for example, she was willing to stay late after work to in order to complete assessments.

Dr X is exceptionally helpful as an educational supervisor and understands specialty training inside out. Her enthusiasm is very encouraging.

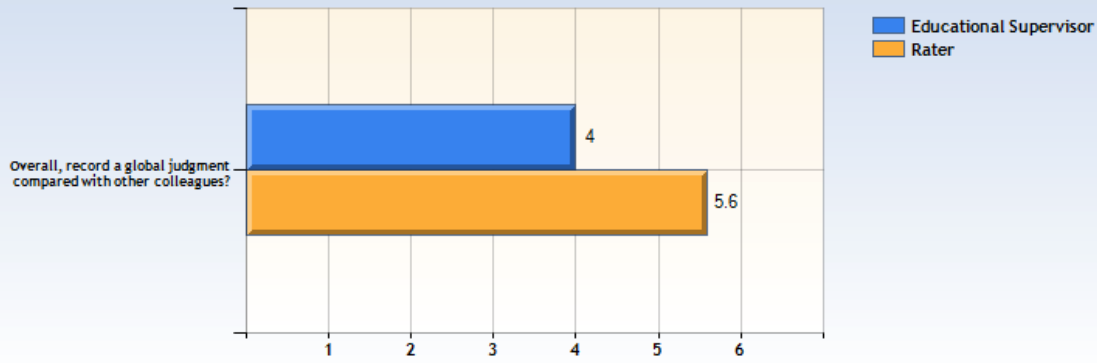

Very approachable. She always listened to my concerns and has helped me learn how to review my performance constructively. I now feel more confident in my clinical practice.

Areas for improvement

Supervision meetings sometimes seemed to focus on my portfolio rather than my more general concerns.

Occasionally supervision meetings have been interrupted by other colleagues. On the whole Dr X handled interrupts well however if it is possible to avoid interruptions that would be helpful.

A good role model as both a clinician and educator

Approachable, friendly and professional role model.

Dr X always has a positive attitude. I particularly appreciated her ability to put difficult experiences or challenging situations in context in relation to the greater scheme of things and my training as a whole.

Dr X is an excellent clinician and inspirational teacher. She was very approachable and always able to encourage.

Dr X is an inspirational consultant. I have learnt a great deal from her and have felt supported throughout my rotation in her department
